The following is an Examiner's statement of reasons: The best prior art of record, Linstroth et al discloses the use of a quotation system which communicates trades made on floors of various exchanges via a data link, in the context of trading. Linstroth et al does not disclose displaying a composite quote which can be accepted by a trader on a trading terminal used by the trader, the composite quote including a display price which the trader can accept an offer to buy or sell a known quantity of an item of value, the composite quote being a composite of two or more smaller quotes made by two or more traders using a computerized trading system with each of the smaller quotes being for a quantity which is less than the known quantity for a price which is at least as good as the displayed price, the trader accepting the best bid, entering a quote from a trader into the trading system, the quote including a quantity and a price, displaying the quote to other traders, at least one of the other traders making a partial acceptance of the quote, the partial acceptance covering less than the full quantity of the quote, and canceling a remaining portion of the quote regardless of its size. The Kramer reference discloses some aspects of conducting trading transactions but neither discloses or suggests the features of displaying a composite quote which can be accepted by a trader on a trading terminal used by the trader, the composite quote including a display price which the trader can accept an offer to buy or sell a known quantity of an item of value, the composite quote being a composite of two or more smaller quotes made by two or more traders using a computerized trading system with each of the smaller quotes being for a quantity which is less than the known quantity for a price which is at least as good as the displayed price, the trader accepting the best bid, entering a quote from a trader into the trading system, the quote including a quantity and a price, displaying the quote to other traders, at least one of the other traders making a partial acceptance of the quote, the partial acceptance covering less than the full quantity of the quote, and canceling a remaining portion of the quote regardless of its size. An extensive search of the applicable prior art was done but showed no better references.

Any comments considered necessary by Applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."

Conclusion

4. Other prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
